Liz Lahti Receives Search for Excellence Award

Cooperative Extension Livestock Agent Liz Lahti was selected for the Search for Excellence Award in Crop Production at the North Carolina Agriculture Agents meeting in June. The Search for Excellence Award was for forage research and education. Lahti was among Cooperative Extension agents in five southeastern counties who received the award. The agents recognized a need for forage research and education. Forage production is a large part of livestock farms in the area and accounts for 22,600 acres of hay grown in the five counties. Over the last two years, the agents established two sprigged bermudagrass variety trials, an herbicide trial and held three haylage field days to demonstrate how haylage is harvested and stored. Lahti shared the award with Taylor Chavis, Randy Wood, Miguel Castillo, and Stephanie Sosinski.

In 2016, Lahti was on a team of agents that received The Grange Search for Excellence Award for efforts to support the N.C. Farm School and Military Farm School.

The New York native has been with Cooperative Extension since 2014.

Health Department Chosen to Lead Multi-County Parenting Program Implementation

The Cumberland County Department of Public Health has been chosen to lead the implementation of Triple P (Positive Parenting Program) for an 18-county region.

Cumberland County was selected by the Division of Public Health's Children and Youth Branch as the lead based on the county's current community child abuse prevention work and success with regional initiatives.

Cumberland County was awarded $290,500 by the Children and Youth Branch to hire three full-time positions that will lead the implementation and provide support for Triple P trained practitioners in the region.

"We are very excited to not only bring Triple P to Cumberland County and our region, but to be chosen as the lead county to implement the program," said Duane Holder, Interim Health Director. "That speaks volumes about our community and its efforts and commitment to improve child welfare and wellbeing in our community."

www.triplep-parenting.com

Triple P is an internationally acclaimed, multi-tiered system of evidence-based parenting interventions. This includes education and support for parents and caregivers of children and adolescents. The program has seven overarching goals:

- To promote the independence and health of families through the enhancement of parents' knowledge, skills, confidence, and self-sufficiency
- To promote the development of non-violent, protective, and nurturing environments for children
- To promote the development, growth, health, and social competence of young children
- To reduce the incidence of child maltreatment and behavioral/emotional problems in childhood and adolescence
- To reduce out-of-home placements
- To reduce emergency department visits related to abuse and neglect
- To reduce out of child care/school suspensions related to behavioral issues

Public Feedback Needed For Sandhills Regional Bicycle Plan

Do you enjoy the fresh air and the view of your surroundings that only a ride on a bicycle can provide? The Fayetteville Area Metropolitan Planning Organization needs your help to develop the Sandhills Regional Bicycle Plan. The North Carolina Department of Transportation awarded a $225,000 planning grant to FAMPO to develop the comprehensive bicycle transportation plan, which covers Cumberland, Harnett, Hoke, Robeson and Scotland counties and parts of Bladen and Sampson counties.

You can provide feedback, take the online survey and view an interactive map at sandhillsbikeplan.com. Input from the public will help planners identify key routes, connections, opportunities and obstacles and prioritize areas for future implementation.

The goal of the Sandhills Regional Bicycle Plan is to provide a framework for the Department of Transportation and local governments to enhance bicycling as a mode of travel for both residents and visitors. Additional goals of the plan include promoting an active, healthy lifestyle, diversifying the regional economy, developing tourism and promoting the region as a destination for visitors.

"We invite residents of the Sandhills Region to provide input on bicycling in the area," said Eric Vitale, a planner with FAMPO. "Whether or not you are an avid cyclist, your opinion matters, and your input is essential to the success of this plan."

The timeline calls for developing and reviewing a draft plan this summer and fall and completing the final plan during the winter. Final presentations and implementation would start in Spring 2019.

Active Shooter Training Videos Now on the Intranet

Videos of the Active Shooter Training for Cumberland County employees and new hires are now available on the Intranet at <http://intranet/default.aspx>. The videos are at the bottom of the Intranet home page under Workplace Violence – Active Shooter Training.

The first video is a recording of an Active Shooter Training session conducted by Sheriff's Office Lt. Gary Dudley and Senior Sgt. George Hall in the Crown Coliseum ballroom in June. The second video is the Houston, Texas, "Run. Hide. Fight." video and the third video is the Department of Homeland Security's "Options for Consideration Active Shooter Training" video.

Both these videos were shown during the training. The Active Shooter Training was an initiative of the County's Workplace Violence Committee.
